Summary

Delivering flawless digital experiences is my mission. With 14 years in software testing, I ensure quality is baked into every product, from client-server applications to cutting-edge mobile and web solutions. Currently as a Manager at KPMG, I thrive on developing robust test strategies that mitigate risk and ensure software meets the highest quality standards. I'm passionate about test automation testing and its impact on user satisfaction and business success. I've led testing efforts for major product launches, resulting in quicker testing results, increased test coverage. My expertise in designing and implementing robust and scalable automation frameworks allows me to identify and resolve critical issues, ensuring seamless user experiences. I'm passionate about improving software quality. Let's connect to discuss potential collaborations and solutions.
